Dear Mr. Robinson:

I would like to express my interest in the Manager position. I am a self-motivated and progress-driven person with an extensive background in the Sales industry. I have developed and executed dynamic interactive strategies that I believe will bring more sales values to your company.

My work experiences have allowed me to strengthen my abilities in leadership, marketing and sales. I am someone who you can count on to show up and get the job done.

I make it a priority to learn all I can to improve my subject knowledge for each project and what I can offer my employer. Additionally, I pride myself on being organized, detail-oriented, and capable of a timely delivery for every assignment.

In reference to the gap in employment shown on my resume, I took the opportunity to travel in an effort to gain new experiences, foster personal development and bring a renewed perspective to my writing and expression. This period of travel allowed me to build strong connections with other individuals and cultures, which has cultivated new growth and a better understanding of my future goals within the creative industry.

I would greatly appreciate your review of my enclosed resume and credentials. I believe that I can be a valuable addition to your company and the sales team. I look forward to the possibility of further discussing my works and background. Thank for your time.

Sincerely,
Giulia Rossi
